'Fairer prices, better products and empowered consumers - a consumer agenda for energy sector reform'
 Tuesday 13 September 2011
 Matt Levey - Head of Campaigns

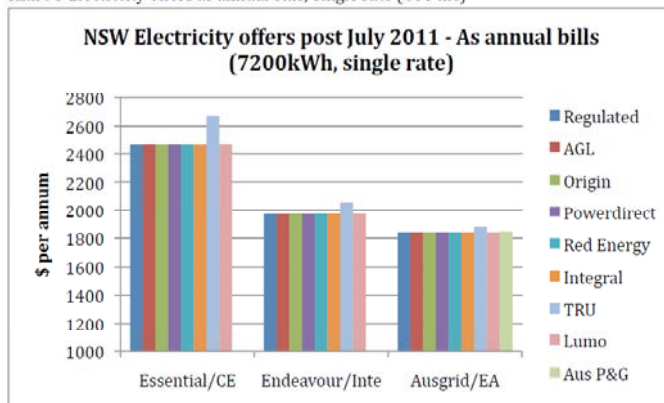

“As you would expect, the proposals include copious amount of detail, and substantial engineering justification. Since the rules require that the regulator’s response be based on the original proposal, the regulator must engage in a careful forensic examination of the myriad of detailed workings to be able to amend the forecast.”

Andrew Reeves, Chairman
 Australian Energy Regulator
